Description

Suicidal behavior is a major cause of death and disability in the United States. Over 41,000 people die by suicide each year, the equivalent of one major airliner filled with passengers crashing every day. Hundreds of thousands of people are treated in hospital emergency departments each year following a suicide attempt. A significant proportion of people who die by suicide have had recent contact with a mental health professional. However, many providers are inadequately trained to assess, treat, and manage suicidal patients or clients. Assessing and Managing Suicide Risk was designed to address that training gap. It teaches essential core competencies that meet the needs of an entire spectrum of mental health professionals, including psychiatrists, psychologists, licensed counselors, social workers, and employee assistance professionals.

Identifying and Addressing Intimate Partner Violence Across the Lifespan

Amanda Corzine, RN, MSN, SANE-A, CFN

Sunday, June 9 | 8:30 am - 11:30 am

Regular Cost: $50;

Discount Cost for Conference Attendees: $40

Applicable Disciplines & Credit Hours:

3.5 Hrs/Credits: Nursing, Social Work; 3 CME Category 1 Credits

Description

Experiencing domestic violence at any age carries long term impacts for victims and survivors. Traumatic experiences have shown to adversely affect mental and physical health outcomes, and domestic violence carries its own set of health risks. This session will explore current research on the prevalence and health impact of domestic violence victims. Tips for identifying and screening for domestic violence in a variety of settings will also be discussed. Community resources and strategies for effective interventions will be reviewed.

Session Objectives: Participants will be able to: (1) Identify negative health outcomes associated with experiencing domestic violence. (2) Name common barriers victims face when attempting to end a violent relationship. (3) Discuss effective strategies for screening for domestic violence in healthcare and other settings. (4) Identify effective strategies for discussing domestic violence with victims.

Afternoon Sessions

Social Work Ethics: Addressing Complexity

Claude C. Drouet, LCSW

Sunday, June 9 | 12:30 pm - 3:30 pm

Regular Cost: $50;

Discount Cost for Conference Attendees: $40

Applicable Disciplines & Credit Hours:

3.5 Hrs/Credits: Social Work

Description

Social work professionals are increasingly dealing with clients and colleagues who hold very different views of ethical and moral issues. The purpose of this workshop is to examine potential conflicts so that social workers may better determine proactive responses to them. This workshop is approved by the Kentucky Board of Social Work. Participants will review the 201 KAR 23:080 regulation with regard to social work ethics, and practice implications will be explored. This session has three overall goals: (1) to better anticipate ethical conflicts; (2) to develop greater comfort to deal with them (reducing high defensiveness or reactivity to such conflicts) and (3) to use ethical challenges as a way to promote our own professional development. We will also look at several key components of our Code of Ethics, with some lively discussion about the dynamics of respect? Primary directive of the practice of social work. We will also look at selected aspects of Kentucky's laws and regulations related to our profession.
